

CULT OBJECT

The Good Life

Stark white, trimmed in gold, glinting in the sun. That's a description of the yacht anchored off Palawan we'd like to be on right now. But the same words apply to the new Tom Ford Soleil Eye and Cheek Palette, a fantasy of clean lines and tasteful shimmer. The ivory clutch houses a quartet of iridescent shadows in sunset hues, while the highlighter and blush flanking it warm the high points of the face. The powders are soft and weightless enough to sweep on with an idle finger—from a reclining deck chair. —LIANA SCHAFFNER

Tom Ford Soleil Eye and Cheek Palette, shown here in Warm (also available in Cool), $155.

JOSEPHINE SCHIELE